

MODULE 4: QUESTION & ANSWER

Coaching for Leadership Masterclass

Cory's Invitation

This masterclass is for all successful coaches who want to take their leadership to the next level and desire to get even better. However, I can't make you better; you've got to do that. You make the difference. I simply provide guidance by helping you become self-aware and provide you some tools for your self-directed growth and development.

Each module video tutorial contains core information from Coaching for Leadership (Dobbs, 2017). One of the dynamic learning elements of this course is to work through the module content and then engage in a Question and Answer session with me. In the spirit of conversational learning, I will study your answers and offer you my perspective and feedback just like I would do if we were in a face-to-face class.

My hope is you will take me up on this invitation as a part of your learning process. Learning, as you know, is not a spectator sport. Take time to prepare a thorough and thoughtful response to each question. This will ensure that you get the most out of this masterclass.

Instructions

When you complete your response to the Module 1 questions, simply xyz

- Why does your sports team exist?
- The sports playing field is a "natural" learning context. What can and should be learned from the team sport experience?
- Why should anyone be led by you? How differently do you answer this question now that you've completed this masterclass?
