

SO YOU WANNA BE AN AGENT?

MODULE 1 || AGENT EDUCATION 101

What does an agent really do?

There are many different roles of an agent, and not all agents fit one mold.

If you ask 20 agents that question you will most likely get 20 different answers. The day to day life of a sports agent depends on multiple factors; including but not limited to: how many clients they have, which sports they work with, the size of agency, level of client, etc.

The primary role of a player agent is to procure and negotiate contracts for their clients.
