What Is SonoFit?

SonoFit, a supplement for ear health, is available only through GetSonoFit.com.

SonoFit, priced at $69 per bottle is manufactured in the United States, in an FDA-approved and GMP-certified facility.

SonoFit is marketed as an "inner-ear bandage" by the manufacturer. By applying drops to your ears daily, you will be able to promote eardrum recovery, support your auditory systems, and promote 20/20 vision, among other benefits.

SonoFit is a blend that contains multiple oils including olive oil and lavender oil.

SonoFit Benefits

The product is targeted at people with hearing problems who want a natural remedy. SonoFit is said to provide a variety of benefits.

- Support 20/20 hearing
- How to heal your eardrums
- Promoting the health of your auditory system
- Natural ear oils made in a FDA registered facility in the United States
- To soothe the ear canal, and to promote healthy ears

SonoFit is marketed as the first inner ear bandage in the world.

What is SonoFit?

SonoFit improves hearing for people with damaged ears or other hearing problems.

SonoFit helps to eliminate the inflammation that causes hearing loss by targeting its root cause: inflammation around and in your ears. Inflammation in your auditory system makes it harder for them function normally.

SonoFit's creators explain the benefits to the formula in this video:

"...Hearing loss occurs when the eardrum becomes less elastic due to inflammation caused by the immune system after it is exposed to new threats."

This "threat", however, could be physical injury - such as exposure to loud sounds or objects contacting the inner ears.

SonoFit, however, is designed specifically to combat inflammation caused by medications. You could be exposing your body to harmful medical chemicals known as ototoxins if you are taking medication. Over time, these ototoxins can cause hearing loss.

According to SonoFit's makers, your body reacts to ototoxins by inflaming. It is good for your body to have inflammation because it helps with its natural healing process. Over time, though, too much swelling can damage the auditory system and worsen hearing.

How To Use SonoFit

SonoFit is designed to be simple to use by anyone every day. Apply a few drops of SonoFit directly to your ears, and let the oils do their work.

How to apply SonoFit every day, as recommended by the manufacturer:

- You can tilt your head one way or the other.
- Three drops of SonoFit can be squeezed into the affected ear.
- Hold the position for three to five minutes before tilting your head up.
- Use as often as you need.

SonoFit is said to promote eardrum regeneration. The manufacturer recommends against using the oil in the case of a perforated eardrum. The tip of the applicator must never touch the ear.

SonoFit acts like an "Eardrum bandage"

SonoFit targets people who have hearing loss, eardrum problems, or other physical issues with their auditory system. SonoFit, according to its manufacturer, acts as an "eardrumbandage" that helps the affected area recover from inflammation and physical damage.

SonoFit's makers describe the effects of the formula on the skin:

By addressing the cause of hearing loss SonoFit works like an "eardrumbandage", soothing the eardrum and protecting it against future damage.

SonoFit contains natural anti-inflammatory and antioxidant compounds that are responsible for these bandaging effects. SonoFit is a natural oil blend that promotes healthy inflammation. claims that by applying these oils every day, you can maximize their healing effect, target the cause of hearing loss and solve your hearing and ear problems.

Does SonoFit help with hearing loss or deafness?

SonoFit was developed for people who have deafness or hearing loss.

SonoFit's makers claim that their formula was "designed to be used by all age groups and conditions". SonoFit reviews also claim that some reviewers were forced to read lips prior to taking SonoFit, only to feel significant relief once they took SonoFit.

The makers of SonoFit recommend against using the formula for a perforated or damaged eardrum. They only recommend it for normal eardrum injury - not for perforations that could allow oils to enter the auditory canal.

Tinnitus and SonoFit

SonoFit can also be used to treat auditory-system conditions such as tinnitus.

Tinnitus is often caused by inflammation. Tinnitus can be caused by medication-induced inflammation. Other people may experience it due to physical damage around their ears.

SonoFit's main target market is hearing loss, ear infections and general ear damage. SonoFit has been shown to relieve tinnitus in some cases.

SonoFit Ingredients

SonoFit is a blend consisting of eight natural oils and extracts that are designed to promote healthy hearing. It contains both well-known oils, such as olive oil and garlic oils, along with less-known ones like mullein. Some oils have been used in traditional medicine for centuries, while others are known because of their scientific backing.

SonoFit contains eight active ingredients. Here's how they work according to the manufacturer.

Mullein: The oil in SonoFit helps with irritation and maintains a healthy inflammation response. It also hydrates the eardrums. Mullein is also called Verbascum Thapsus, or the great mullein. It has been used for centuries to make dyes and torches as well as traditional medicine. Research shows that mullein contains phytochemicals such as saponins and polysaccharides. It also contains mucilage, tannins, flavonoids, mucilage and mucilage.

Garlic oil: The garlic oil in SonoFit has been used for centuries as a natural remedy. Garlic oil is believed to be effective because it contains high levels of allicin. This natural chemical has been linked to many different effects. SonoFit's makers claim that the garlic oil is ideal for detoxification because it supports the body in its ability to eliminate toxins. It can also help balance vertigo and relieve earaches.

Oil: For centuries, olive oil has been used to clean ears. According to the manufacturer of SonoFit olive oil, it will remove earwax, and protect your eardrum. This olive oil has also been 100% cold-pressed.

Lavender oil: The lavender oil in SonoFit has anti-inflammatory properties. SonoFit's lavender oil may help if your hearing issues and ear damage is caused by inflammation. According to SonoFit's manufacturer, lavender oil has analgesic qualities, meaning it can help with ear pain. SonoFit's lavender oil may help soothe ear pain and hearing issues caused by damage to the ear.

Tea Tree oil: The SonoFit product contains tea tree oil. This natural oil helps to heal wounds and acts as a bandage. Tea tree oil is known for its calming and soothing qualities, which makes it a popular component in traditional medicine.

Echinacea The echinacea in SonoFit helps prevent ear infections. SonoFit contains a lot of antioxidants that support the body's detoxification process, helping prevent ear infection. Antioxidants help your immune system do its job. Your immune system fights inflammation when your body is inflamed. Echinacea's anti-inflammatory properties could be helpful in many ways.

Pumpkin Oil: The SonoFit product contains pumpkin seed oil. This oil is rich in Omega-3 fatty acid. Pumpkin seed oil is a natural oil that can be used to help slow down hearing loss. It also has calming and nourishing effects.

DL Alpha Tocopherol The SonoFit product contains a special form of vitamin E, called DL Alpha Tocopherol. This ingredient, which is described as a 'rare' version of vitamin E, has skin-repairing properties, and according to the manufacturer, it helps hydrate eardrums.

Scientific evidence for SonoFit

SonoFit's makers cite dozens studies on their website to prove that SonoFit is as advertised. Below, we'll examine the evidence to show how SonoFit functions, what it does and the active ingredients in the formula.

The makers of SonoFit first cite a Himalayan Institute Medical Sciences study proving that hearing loss is caused by eardrums losing elasticity because of inflammation. Some medications create or contain ototoxins that contribute to inflammation. Some medications list "hearing impairment" as a possible side effect. SonoFit's makers claim that "most" of the medications prescribed by doctors each day contain ototoxins which can damage hearing.

SonoFit promises to repair and target damage to your eardrum in order to restore hearing. SonoFit targets your eardrum damage, ear canal damage, and the overall condition of your ear to restore hearing. According to the official website of SonoFit, it acts "like an eardrum bandage" by using a mixture of natural oils that help to protect your eardrum from further damage.

Olive Oil is one of the main ingredients in SonoFit. It has been used as a natural solution to remove earwax for centuries. Some studies have shown that olive oil is beneficial for ear health. One study from 2013 published in practice nursing found that olive oil used to clean the ear prior to removing earwax was more effective than a control solution.

SonoFit is a blend of oil that helps to speed up healing and prevent ear infections. It also removes earwax. Researchers compared oil-based and water-based ear-cleaning solutions in a study. Researchers found 18 studies comparing oil-based versus water-based methods of cleaning. They concluded that both were equally effective in clearing earwax.

People apply drops of garlic oil in their ears to speed up healing or to prevent ear infections. Garlic is known to have natural antimicrobial properties, which may explain why some people think it can prevent ear infection. A 2019 study discovered that garlic contains multiple antimicrobial compounds, including allicin and s-allyl cysteine (SAC) as well as diallyl disulfide. These chemicals are linked to a better defense against harmful bacteria. These natural chemicals found in garlic oil can fight off harmful bacteria such as Staphylococcus Aureus, Candida Albicans and E. coli.

Some studies have shown that antioxidants, such as vitamin E, can also help to reduce hearing loss. Researchers gave a mix of Vitamin C and E in This study to 87 patients who had sudden sensorineural loss. The patients were given a high dose of vitamin E (1200mg daily) and vitamin E (600mg daily) by mouth, along with steroids and/or aliprostadil. Researchers found that 63.3% reported an average improvement in hearing of 29.4dB, compared to 18.5dB and 44.5% for the control group.

SonoFit is a mixture of natural oils that are linked to hearing loss and ear health. It also provides ear support. These ingredients have been shown to help hearing in different ways by some studies. SonoFit is unlikely to make a significant difference for those who have severe hearing issues, such as near or partial loss of hearing, severe eardrum injury, and severe hearing impairment.
