How to Use This Workbook

It is a good idea to have a workbook so you can record your athletic progress. A basketball workbook is a place for you to write down your goals, hopes, dreams, successes, achievements and even your losses and setbacks. It works best when you use your workbook along with the book, Winning Spirit Basketball.

The questions and practices in this workbook are designed to help you develop your mental edge and get you thinking more deeply about basketball. As you spend time writing, you will begin to understand yourself better as an athlete and expand your inner game.

You are your most important project, and your athletic journey is worth recording!

I have a burning desire to improve everyday.

Love The Game

I love this game! I give it everything I've got.

When thinking about practice and working on your game, eliminate saying "I have to" and start saying and "I want to." Write down a few examples:

A Coach's Dream

I work hard to earn the confidence of my coach.

Choose three coaches you know and ask them to tell you about a player they coached who was a coach's dream.

| Coach's Name: | What they said: |

Breaking A Sweat

I strive to be the hardest worker on my team.

Go to the gym or park and observe which players work the hardest. Notice how they warm up, practice, and focus on improving.

Free Your Mind

I picture a perfect move in my mind.

Find a place where you can be undisturbed and fully focused. Get into a comfortable position. Take a minute to print a word or short phrase inside the flame on the next page. Then concentrate the word or phrase, allowing your eyes to relax. Don't stare and blink as often as you need. If your mind wanders, gently guide it back to the flame. Continue your breathing as you settle into a relaxed focus.

Talk With Your Coach

I let my coach know what is going on.

The next time that you feel concerned or confused about something that involves your coach, ask for some time when you can sit down and talk. You may want to write down your thoughts before the meeting so you will remember everything you want to say. Be truthful and honest when you talk, but also be respectful.

Emotions Are Real

Emotions are an important part of being an athlete.

| When was the last time you were emotional about basketball? What was going on?            |

The Inner Coach

I listen to the coach within me.

The next time you find yourself lacking confidence, feeling confused, or needing a solution to a problem, go to a favorite place where you can be alone. Have a conversation with yourself as if you were talking with your best friend. Tell yourself what is going on and what you are feeling. Don't hold anything back. Ask yourself for direction so that you can clearly see what steps you need to take. Allow a few minutes of silence to pass as you listen for a message or an answer from within.

Fear as an Advantage

I face fears head-on and use them to my advantage.

One good way to cope with fear is to face it. The following exercise will help you better understand what your fears are:

Protect Yourself

I protect myself. Nobody can steal my confidence.

Get in a comfortable position and begin to practice a few minutes of deep relaxation. Make sure that you pay attention to your breathing, allowing your breaths to become slow and deep.

Then, using the power of your mind, begin to imagine that a shield of light is surrounding your entire body. Visualize it encircling and protecting you.

The next time you are in a situation when something has a negative effect on you, use this technique to protect yourself. Imagine that the shield of light is blocking out everything that is not helpful so that you can remain positive and confident.

Find a favorite picture of yourself playing basketball, make a copy of it and paste it below. Then, draw the shield of light around you that you imagined. Be sure to add color.

Walk In Their Shoes

I treat other players the way I want to be treated.

From your own experience, you know that there are so many things that can cause a player to feel upset: for example, a bad game, an injury, or personal problems. Write about a few of your tough times:

A powerful Imagination

I see it in my mind and achieve it on the court.

Relax

When I relax, my body and mind recharge.

Slowly, (like when you first learned to write) copy each sentence. After each sentence, take a few gentle, deep breaths and move on to the next line. I love playing basketball. Take a few deep breaths I play with intensity and desire. Take a few deep breaths I am a creative player.

Take a few deep breaths

| I enjoy playing under pressure.      |                         |
|--------------------------------------|-------------------------|
|                                      | Take a few deep breaths |
| I make my teammates better.          |                         |
|                                      | Take a few deep breaths |
| I have confidence in my skills.      |                         |
|                                      | Take a few deep breaths |
| I play with poise and under control. |                         |

I fight for my dream and never give up.

Recall a time in your life when you faced a big challenge. Possibly, the odds of success seemed to be against you and others didn't believe you could succeed. But you knew that you could do it—and you did! Somehow you tapped into the spirit of determination.

| What was the challenge you faced? |  |

Appreciate It All

I am fortunate to have basketball in my life!

Think about all the good things that have come your way because of basketball. Feel how incredibly fortunate you are: the physical skills that you have developed; all your accomplishments, both big and small; the friends you have made; the joy you have had playing. List some of your treasures below:

MY TREASURE CHEST:

Create a collage of some of your personal treasures. You can paste in photos of your home, family, and friends. You can also cut and paste some of your favorite words.

I ask for help from people I trust.

Ask yourself if there is anything going on that you could use some extra help with. Are you struggling with an aspect of basketball? Is anything else going on in your life that is causing you to lose some of your direction and motivation? Do you need some help?

If so, identify people who can help. Have the courage to ask for advice. When you do get sound advice, make sure that you really understand it. Then, put this advice into practice and see what happens.

Beyond Your Comfort Zone

I dig in and push beyond my comfort zone.

Pick one practice day in the week when you find it the hardest to concentrate and be full of energy. On this day, make the commitment to practice with greater concentration and effort.

Giving back

I share my skills and knowledge with others.

Find a few younger or less skilled basketball players who really want to learn more about how to play the game. These could be beginners with little basketball experience. Once you are together and you can see their level of play, teach them the basic basketball skills that you know well.

Tom Mitchell, Ph.D. has spent his adult life coaching and teaching others how to discover their unique, greatness within. His passion for exploring the boundaries of performance excellence began as an athlete in his native Pennsylvania. His avid study of sport psychology, motivation, and leadership, has led Tom to a richly varied career as a college coach and professor, motivational speaker, NBA sport psychology counselor, business coach and team building consultant.

Using many of the mental training practices that are found in athletics, he skillfully integrates sport psychology principles into business. Speaking passionately about the intangibles or "soft skills" found in highly successful teams and leaders, Tom teaches us how to practice these intangibles and create a winning culture.

Based on these success principles and proven practices, Tom co-founded MVP Performance Institute, bringing his speaking and coaching to a wider audience.

In 2005, Tom and NFL legend Joe Montana, co-authored an Amazon #1 Best Seller, "The Winning Spirit, Sixteen Timeless Principles that Drive Performance Excellence." He also co-authored "Winning Spirit Basketball" with NBA Hall of Famer, Chris Mullin.

Charles L. Darr Editorial Consultant

Charles spent his professional career teaching writing, literature, and humanities at the university level. His love of teaching, interest in book design, and promotion of self-awareness in his students, eventually resulted in his collaboration with the author as the editor of 13 books. Charles generously dedicated his time, editing every book in the Winning Spirit Sports Series.

Winning Spirit Sport Series

The Winning Spirit Sport Series grew out of a book and a journal, originally written for my two young daughters 22 years ago, who were (and still are) athletes and performers.

Having been a coach my entire adult life, I felt it was important to give them something that would guide them in their athletic journeys. I wanted to provide a way of encouraging them to strive for excellence in their sport while having balance in their lives. I wanted them to have a better understanding of the habits and behaviors that are at the heart of an athlete's success: good communication skills, an outstanding work ethic, and the ability to focus and concentrate.

As a coach, my mission is to help athletes better understand themselves as well as improve their performance. My goal is to present universal character-building concepts in an easyto-understand format, that can be put into everyday practice.

It is my hope that the material will encourage and motivate readers to achieve rich and fulfilling lives, both as athletes and as human beings.
